Study abroad can be a very challenging and rewarding process for participants. Discuss a difficult situation that you have encountered in your life. What factors contributed to this difficulty, and how did you deal with it?

A range of academic interests, personal perspectives, and life experiences adds much to the educational mix. Given your personal background, describe an experience that illustrates what you would bring to a study abroad program.

Explain the importance of your major in today's society and how a study abroad experience would affect your ability to engage successfully in society upon your return and in your future goals.

In terms of international experience and understanding, assess this quote by Senator J. William Fulbright: "One simply cannot engage in barbarous action without becoming a barbarian ... one cannot defend human values by calculated and unprovoked violence without doing mortal damage to the values one is trying to defend."
