

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF PSYCHOLOGY

The Department of Psychological Science at the University of Arkansas invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in human neuroscience. The appointment begins August 2016. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests focus on cognitive, clinical, developmental, or social neuroscience. Preference will be given to candidates who employ one or more of the following approaches: EEG/ERP, NIRS, TMS, tDCS/tACS, or computational modeling and whose research compliments existing strengths in the department.

Successful applicants must have (1) a PhD in Psychology by the date of appointment; (2) an outstanding record of research achievement in human neuroscience; (3) evidence of, or demonstrated potential for, external funding; (4) the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in neuroscience, as well as other courses as needed by the department; and (5) demonstrated effective interpersonal skills and collegiality. For candidates with a PhD in the clinical area, graduation from an APA-accredited doctoral program, the completion of an APA-accredited doctoral internship, and the ability to become licensed in the state of Arkansas are also required. A competitive startup package is available.

Review of applications will begin November 1st, 2015. Full consideration will be given to applications received by that date. Applicants should submit (a) a cover letter (b) a CV, (c) representative publication reprints (submit in one .pdf in "Other Document"), (d) statement of research plans (submit in "Statement of Research Philosophy"), (e) statement of teaching interests (submit in "Statement of Teaching Philosophy"), and (f) the names, title, and contact information for three references. For the complete announcement and to apply, visit the job posting at <http://jobs.uark.edu/postings/8813>. Questions regarding this position may be sent to lampinen@uark.edu. Visit our website, <http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/psychological-science>, for more information about the department.

This position is subject to a pre-employment background and sex offender registry check. A criminal conviction or arrest pending adjudication alone shall not disqualify an applicant in the absence of a relationship to the requirements of the position. Background check information will be used in a confidential, non-discriminatory manner consistent with state and federal law.

The University of Arkansas is an equal opportunity institution committed to achieving diversity in its faculty. Therefore, the university is especially interested in applications from qualified candidates who would contribute to the diversity of our academic departments. The university welcomes applications without regard to age, race, gender (including pregnancy), national origin, disability, religion, marital or parental status, protected veteran status, military service, genetic information, sexual orientation or gender identity. All applicant information is subject to public disclosure under the Arkansas Freedom of Information Act and persons must have proof of legal authority to work in the United States on the first day of employment.