

Film Presentation+

“Una vida, dos países: Children and Youth (Back) in Mexico”

Q&A

w/ the director

Tatyana

KLEYN

Thursday September 22, 2016 at 7 pm

(AFLS) Agricultural, Food, and Life Sciences Building Room D -115.

Next to the Pat Walker Health Center on 1120 W. Maple St. Fayetteville, Arkansas 72701.

Tatyana Kleyn is Associate Professor in the Program of Bilingual Education at the City College of New York. Kleyn holds a doctorate from Columbia University in International Educational Development with a specialization in Bilingual/Bicultural Education. She has extensively published on topics such as bilingualism, the relation between identity, culture, race and language acquisition, undocumented students, and multilingualism. Her two book publications focus on the topics of immigration and the particulars of teaching in two languages. There will be a public screening of her film “Una vida, dos países: Children and Youth (Back) in Mexico” (30mts). The film explores the alienation and disruption that results when children who have spent all or most of their lives in the United States return with their families to Oaxaca, Mexico.

Sponsored by the Office of Latino Academic Advancement, the Honors College, the Department of Latin American and Latino Studies, the University Libraries, the Department of English, the Fulbright College Honors Program, the European Studies Program, and the Artist and Concerts Committee.

