Anti-Sharia legislation passed or pending in a number of states provokes broader questions concerning the place of religious law within American society and contrasting interpretations of constitutionality. This symposium will provide a forum to consider underlying legal and social issues driving such legislation and what these statutes mean for Americans, Muslims and non-Muslims.

Discussants:
Abed Awad, Attorney and Sharia Expert with Awad & Khoury, LLP
John Eidsmoe, Attorney with the Foundation for Moral Law
Bernard Freamon, Professor at Seton Hall School of Law
Mark Potok, Senior Fellow with the Southern Poverty Law Center
Stephen M. Sheppard, William H. Enfield Distinguished Professor of Law at the University of Arkansas

Moderator:
Joel Gordon, Director of the King Fahd Center for Middle East Studies at the University of Arkansas
